U.S. Chamber's Donohue Comments on House Republicans' Standards on Immigration Reform

WASHINGTON, D.C.—U.S. Chamber of Commerce President and CEO Thomas J. Donohue issued the following statement today on the House Republicans' Standards for Immigration Reform:

“The draft Standards for Immigration Reform being debated by the House Republicans today mark important progress in ensuring immigration reform is a priority this year. This is a very encouraging sign that House lawmakers are serious about fixing our broken immigration system.

“We're looking forward to continuing to work with members of Congress as they move forward with reform efforts. Immigration reform is an essential element of economic growth and it will create American jobs. It will add talent, innovation, investment, and dynamism to our economy. The time is now, and the Chamber is determined to make 2014 the year that immigration reform is finally enacted.”

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is the world's largest business federation representing the interests of more than 3 million businesses of all sizes, sectors, and regions, as well as state and local chambers and industry associations.
